The descendants of the four sons of James Whidden are numerous, many of them still in Truro and the immediate area, many more scattered around the world. The descendency of the Nova Scotia Whidden's has been detailed by Miss Helen Whidden, in "The Whidden Family of Nova Scotia", and her publication has been added to in numerous records and accounts. The purpose of this report is to file for any descendants who are interested the ancestry of James Whidden and Abigail Sanborn, as complete as I have found it. Please note that I have not done any primary research myself, only compiled this information from other published sources, based on my own personal interest. As with any genealogical publication, there are undoubtedly errors, I hope none of my own doing, but I hope at least this information will be interesting to the Whidden's of Nova Scotia. All additions or corrections are most welcome and appreciated.

This report is in the form of an ahnentafel report. To find someone's father, double their number. To find someone's mother, double their number and add 1 (i.e., the wife of someone is their number plus 1 - which follows immediately after).

Third Generation

4 Samuel Whidden. Born ca 1680 in Greenland, New Hampshire. Samuel died in 1714; he was 34.

Samuel was probably one of the younger children of Samuel Sr., as he seems to have still been young when he died in 1714 (outlived by his father, who died in the same year). His last child was born after his death.

New Hampshire Court Record 9:303 shows that on Feb. 7, 1687-8, Samuel Whidden and Thomas Whitton, both of Greenland, were bound to the peace by Ludwick Fowler not to burn down his house (probably young brothers at the time).

Samuel was living Aug. 22, 1713, when Francis Jones made his will, giving to "Samll. Widdon Jr. his wife Sarah's . . .". He died before Feb 20, 1713-4 when a warrant was issued for a town meeting - one item - to elect his successor as 'constable for Greenland'. No estate was brought to probate. His father's will, made March 3, 1713-4, refers to his three grandsons, "ye sons of my son Samuel Whidden deceased."

Samuel Whidden had four sons, James, Samuel, John and Ichabod. James went to Nov Scotia. Samuel cannot be identified in any accounts. John went to Maine. Ichabod remained in New Hampshire.

ca 1700 when Samuel was 20, he married Sarah Jones.

They had the following children:

- i. Sarah (ca1701-1751)
- ii. Samuel
- iii. John (ca1704-<1787)
- 2 iv. James (1713-1790)
- v. Ichabod (1714-1798)

5 Sarah Jones. Born on 27 Apr 1669 in Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

6 John Sanborn. Born on 6 Nov 1681 in Hampton, New Hampshire. John died in Chester, NH, on 3 Sep 1727; he was 45. Occupation: Lovewell's War (1708), Large Landholder, Selectman (1724). Residence: North Hampton, Chester, NH.

In his will, John Sanborn left his lands in North Hampton to sons Daniel and Benjamin, and his lands in Chester to sons Richard, Nathan, and Elisha.

On 8 Aug 1701 when John was 19, he married Sarah Philbrick in Hampton, NH.

They had the following children:

At her death, Sarah was said to have had 182 living descendents out of 239.

Fourth Generation

8 Samuel Whidden. Born in 1624 in Portsmouth, England. Samuel died in Greenland, NH, aft 3 Mar 1714; he was 90. Occupation: Bricklayer, Mason. Residence: Portsmouth, NH, Greenland (1662).

See details of Samuel (1) and Samuel (2) in ref.,

The first recorded evidence of Samuel's appearance in New Hampshire can be found in 1662. New Hampshire Court Records, State papers, 40:176 June 24, 1662 "Samuel Whitten gave a bill to Wat'r (Walter?) Abbut to pay John Pottle's fine. Pottle, for kicking in the head of his company's drum, for being drunk, by his Antick carriage before the Court, etc. had been fined 20s. and fees or be whipped etc." As Whidden(/Whitten) and Pottle were old Devonshire names, this record may indicate a family connection.

Court records in these same New Hampshire State papers, 40:507-8, show Samuel's next known appearance here: "The deposishon of Samuells Whedin ayged about 30. This deponant was Required by the Constable of Strabry banke to ayd and assist him in Executing a Levell which was deleveld to hime by the select men of the same towne and this deponant doe her testyfy that Walter Abbot sayd he would nocke the Constablls Brains outt if hee tocht any oxcen of his and stod with his axe Redy to strike the sayd Constabell and sayd hee would Loes his heartt blood befor hee should have any oxcen ther answoer by God deponant will testyfy the same. Juenuery ye 21 : 1663. Sworne in Court 2d ffebruary 1663, Rec: Stileman Clerke". James Drew, aged about 30, deposed to the same on the same date.

From 1663 through to 1713, nmerous deeds, land transfers, tax lists, Meeting House minutes, etc., can be found bearing the name of Samuel Whidden.

Samuel was a bricklayer and mason. The Collections of the New Hampshire Historical Society continuing province records and court papers 1680 - 1692, Vol VIII, shows the statement of indenture of Nathan Knight:

"This indenture witnesseth that I, Nathan Knight, sometime of Blackpoint, with the consent of my father-in-law, Harry Brooken, and Elend, his wife, have put myself apprentice to Samuel Whidden, of Portsmouth, in the county of Portsmouth, and bound mason after the manner of an apprentice with him, to serve and abide the full space and term of twelve years and five months, thence next following, to be full, complete and ended; during which time said apprentice his said master faithfully shall serve, his lawful secrets shall keep, and commands shall gladly do, damage unto his said master he shall not do, nor see to be done of others, but to the best of his power shall give timely notice thereof to his said masters. Fornication he shall not commit, nor contract matrimony within the said time. The goods of his said master he shall not lend nor spend. He shall not play at cards, or dice, or any other unlawful game, whereby his said master may have damage in his own goods, or others; taverns he shall not haunt, nor from his master's business absent himself by day or by night, but in all things shall behave himself as a faithful apprentice ought to do. And said master his said apprentice shall teach and instruct, or cause to be taught and instructed in the art and mystery as mason; finding unto his said apprentice during said time meat, drink, washing, lodging and apparel, fitting an apprentice, teaching him to read, and allowing him three months toward the latter end of his time to go to school to write, as also double

Fifth Generation

16 Ichabod Whidden. Born in Portsmouth, England.

The Whidden name has been spelled in various ways throughout the centuries: Wyddon, Whiddon, Whydon. From very early times (at least the 14th century), the Whidden's lived at Chagford in Devonshire, which is in the heart of the moors. In the time of Queen Mary, 1553-58, the Chagford Manor became the property of Sir John Whiddon, and remained in the family for several descents. They also occuppied the property at Whiddon Park, about a mile from Chagford Manor. The family has been extinct in Chagford since the 1700's, but the name hs been preserved. Today, Whiddon Park and the manor house is as beautiful as ever, the entrance gates bearing the name "Whiddon". The house dates probably from the late 15th century. The parish church also holds memorials to several Whiddons.

Icahbod Whidden is said to have come to Portsmouth, NH (sailing from Portsmouth, England) in 1662, bringing with him his three sons, Samuel, James, and John. Of James and John we have no positive record.

According to Ray Whidden, the genealogist, there is very little positive record of Ichabod, and perhaps this name was used in the biblical sense of father, rather than the actual.

Rev. Stephen Bachilar had been somewhat of a non-conformist pastor in England and had left for Holland, then America aboard the William and Francis, arriving Boston, MA June 5, 1632. He brought with him his three grandsons, John, William, and Stephen, children of his daughter Anne and John Sanborn, who had apparently died previously in England. He immediately travelled to Lynne where his daughter Theodate, wife of Christopher Hussey, had settled previously. He removed to Ipswich, then Newbury, finally settling in Hampton, New Hampshire in 1638, at the age of 77. He administered to the religious needs of that community and founded a Congregational church. However, his somewhat eccentric manner and lack of managerial leadership put his church in disarray, and he returned to England in his very senior years. His grandson Stephen was said to have returned to England with him. ,,
