Updated Feb. 7, 2016

David Dickie was born in Ireland, came to New England in 1716 and settled in New Hampshire. Adam, Robert and David Dickie, sons of David Dickie and Isabel McGlaughlin, were all Grantees of Truro in 1760. They generally took the spelling of Dickey in Truro. David relocated to the Musquodoboit valley. This report presents the early generations of descendants of these three brothers, with a more detailed description of the descendants of Samuel of Musquodoboit.
